A Country House,

And about 200 acres of Land, within 3 miles of Alexandria, will be sold by the subscriber. The house was formerly occupied by himself, and is about one third of a mile from his present dwelling. The situation is high and remarkably healthy. The house has 4 rooms, and a kitchen and pantry, on the lower floor, and four chambers with fire places in the 2d story. It was well built under the superintendence of Mr. Loring, a respectable English architect, and would make a comfortable summer retreat for a genteel family, or might be made a valuable Tavern by opening a road through the land. About one half of the land is in wood; the residue is capable of being made land, some grounds. There is a good well and pump in the yard; and there are several good springs on the land. The terms of payment will be one fifth in four months; the residue in four equal annual payments with interest; one half secured by notes well endorsed, and the whole by a deed of trust on the land. Possession may be had immediately.

THE BRIEF REMARKER.

AMONGST the short but admirable sketches of nature which the historical part of the Sacred Volume furnishes, there is one that has been very little noticed; though, had it been found in any other book of so early date, it would have been quoted, again and again, with peals of applause. It is recorded in the 21st chapter of the 2d book of Samuel, and consists of a simple unvarnished tale of maternal tenderness taken from real life.

In the beginning of barley harvest seven sons of Saul were hanged up, all together, and it was ordered that their dead bodies should remain upon the gallows or tree, exposed to the birds & the beasts of prey. Two of those young men were the sons of Rizpah, Saul's concu-bine, whose conduct on that distressing occasion is described as follows:—"And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth, and spread it for her upon the rock, from the beginning of harvest until water dropped upon them out of heaven, and suffered neither the birds of the air to rest on them by day, nor the beasts of the field by night."

The sacred historian records this story as worthy of notice and remembrance, and, according to the usual manner of the penmen of the Holy Bible, he merely records it; adding not a word of comment or a single reflection of his own.
Indeed it is of itself a picture which needs no coloring, and which no art could improve.

What was the moral or religious character of Rizpah, we are not told. Her being called Saul's concubine is no evidence that she was of an abandoned character; for concubine probably means here nothing more or worse than a wife of the secondary or subordinate rank, agreeably to the custom, tolerated, tho' not sanctioned, under the Mosaic dispensation. Nor do we know if the two unhappy sons had treated their mother at all with filial kindness. Considering that they were branches of Saul's ungra-cious house, the greater likelihood is that the mother had suffered many a pang from the churlishness of their behavior.
And be it even so, she but acted the genuine character of Mother when she forgot the undutifulness of her sons in the yearnings of her compassion.

If we except the few, in whose hearts natural affection has given place to the ambition of making a figure in the eyes of the public, maternal tenderness is of universal extent, unless in those benighted regions where it has been blighted by a horrible superstition. This species of affection is one of the primary qualities of human nature, and no talents or accomplishments can countervail its defec-tiveness. It is one of the main pillars of our race, which, without it, would quickly tumble to ruin.

The child that has the mother with it, though born in the most abject condition of life, has one friend at least: a friend who loves it as naturally as she loves herself, and guards and fosters it from the same powerful feelings of nature that she guards and fosters her own life. And what though, as to the greater part of mothers, the maternal tenderness partakes more of animal instinct than of any rational exercise of the mind? What though it is so apt to run into a blind, excessive, and pernicious indulgence?
What though their misguided fondness for their infant progeny is aptly represented in the fable of the ape that stifled her youngling with the violence of her embrace? All this only shows that the gifts of nature are pervertible, and that ill may be deduced from good. The affection itself peculiar to the maternal bosom, is implanted by the hand of God;
it is a precious part of female nature, and of immeasurable importance in its consequences.

As a celebrated writer remarks, "The authority of a father, so useful to our well being, and so justly venerable on all accounts, hinders us from having that entire love for him that we have for our mothers, where the paternal authority is melted down into the mother's fondness and indulgence."

Experience fully testifies to the truth of the above remark, and at the same time evinces the wisdom of the divine economy in this important particular. Filial affection, which is one of the most useful affections of our general nature, obtains its root and earliest growth from maternal tenderness. The fond & dotting mother has our first love, which, by degrees, extends itself to the other parents; whereas but for the indulgent softness of female nature which so irresistibly attracts the affections of our infancy and early childhood, there would be much less of pure unsophisticated filial love, than there now is in the world.

Alas for the conduct of those children who neglect their mother when she is old! It manifests an unfeelingness of heart and brutality of disposition exceeding the ordinary bounds of human depravity.

* The late Edmund Burke.

Boston, Oct. 23.

Late from Europe.

Since Saturday we have received numerous French, British and Spanish journals into September.

The French papers announce the complete success of the British Expedition against Algiers.—All the piratical fleet has been destroyed! The custom of making Christian Slaves been abolished and part of Dey's ill gotten tribute money disgorged.

The French Monitor has given but a meagre outline of this event so interesting to Christendom; but as Capt. Brisbane passed Paris on the 10th September with despatches from Lord Exmouth, which probably arrived in London by the 15th, we may hourly expect to receive the official details.

Advices from Naples, announce, that Mr. Pinkney, our Minister, had been accredited by Ferdinand 4th.—had presented a note on the subject of indemnifica-tion for former depredations on our commerce, and that the negotiation was in the usual train. We believe this.—But the tales of a great to commence war by a bombardment of the city;—a demand of an island in the Mediterranean, and other vagaries in which the European prints abound, must be considered as of the same brood of fictions, which have brought these journals to the verge of contempt, and which ought not to receive the notice of transcription.

The news of the success of Lord Ex-mouth's expedition was despatched in a fast-sailing vessel to Marseilles, & reached Paris on the 10th September. Capt.
Brisbane, flag captain of the fleet, was the bearer. He reported, that Admiral Milne, as well as Lord Exmouth, was slightly wounded; and that Capt. Ekins mortally so.

It was reported that Marshal Savary and Gen. Lallemand, were in Algiers (Doubtful)—and that after the battle the Dey disappeared.

One account says, that the Dey during the battle ordered the head of the Minister of Marine to be struck off.

LORD EXMOUTH'S FLEET.

The following is a correct list of the fleet composing the Expedition against Algiers:—

Queen Charlotte, 100 guns, Ad. Lord
Exmouth.

Albion, 74, Capt. J. Brisbane,

Impregnable, 98, Rear Ad. Peurosa,

Superb, 74, Capt. Code,

Minden, 74, Rear Ad. Milne,

Leander, 50, Capt. Ed. Brace,

Severn, 40, Capt. Ekins,

Glasgow, 40, Capt. W. Paterson,

Hebrus, 36, Capt. Cheatham, Granicus, 36, Capt. F. W. Aylmer,

Sloops Britomart, Mutine, Heron,

Prometheus and Cordelia; with several gun and mortar brigs.

The following are the names of the Dutch squadron under Ad. Capellan:

Melampus, 40, Sophia Wilhelmina 44

Diana, 40, L'Acantel, 44

Daguerad, 36, Bendragt, 24

Latest From Spain.

Capt. Hillard, from Cadiz, informs us, that on the 4th September, the Portuguese ship San Sebastian, of 74 guns, arrived there from the Brazils, conveying their Royal Highnesses the Princess Donna Isabella Maria, the betrothed Queen of Ferdinand 7th; and Donna Maria Fran-coise, her sister, also betrothed to Don Carlos, the brother of the King. They were received with the most splendid demonstrations of joy and loyalty. A thousand discharges announced their entrance into the harbor; and the Cleop-atrine barge which conveyed them to the shore, was rowed by Post Captains, and steered by the Vice-Admiral. At night, every part of Cadiz was splendidly illuminated. The marriage of the Queen was again recognized in the proxy of the Count Miranda, and her Majesty passed in an open coach to her residence. She is in her 19th year, and extremely beautiful. Her sister is younger, and not so handsome.—The King it was expected, would meet her at Seville.

The celebrated Gen. Miranda died at the castle of Carracas near Cadiz, and was buried without any religious rites.

Charles H. Hall, Esq. of this town, we learn, is appointed Consul General of the Sublime Ottoman Porte, for New York, and the New-England States. The representations made to the Sultan of the circumstances attending the ship Jerusalem, it is said, occasioned this appointment.

LONDON PAPERS.

We were yesterday favored with London papers to the 6th Sept. The opo-sition continued to take advantage of the relative stagnation of trade, and complaints of distress, which were common throughout Europe, to make the Ministry unpopular, and to effect changes therein.
That there must be many instances of deprivation in a crowded population of twelve millions, is certain. But there was evidence that the great majority were silent if not satisfied,—that the prospects of the finest crops for many years was good; the National Stocks maintained an altitude greater than those of any other nation; and the exertions of the wealthy to relieve the distresses of individuals continued undiminished.

The permanent Peace of Europe appeared daily consolidating, and her mighty resources, so long expended in decorating the bloody car of war, directed to the advancement of the Arts and Sciences, the comforts and ornament of society; and to the relief of distresses occasioned by the elements.

Vaccination has been introduced into Persia.

Gen. Debelles, one of the Bonaparteans officers impeached of treason, who was sentenced to death in March, and had his sentence committed to two years imprisonment, will receive a pardon. When the Duke d'Angouleme was lately at Besancon, the Gen. threw himself at his feet, bathed them in tears, and begged permission to die in his service. The Duke raised him up with tenderness, and orders to mitigate his captivity, and the Gen. being poor, sent him 800 francs to assigned him an annuity of 1200 francs from his private purse.—Paris papers.

LOSS OF THE FRENCH FRIGATE MEDUSA.

On the 3d of July the French frigate Medusa was wrecked near Cape Blanc, on the coast of Africa, 13 or 15 leagues from the land. Many of the officers and seamen embarked in the boats, and the residue, 147, were placed on a raft, the officers in the boats promising to tow it to the shore. On the 5th of July they left the wreck. On the raft there were 5 barrels of wine, 2 of water, and 20 wt. of biscuit. Some of those persons on the raft were up to their middle in water.

They expected to gain the land in less than three days. But immediately after leaving the ship the tow cable was cut, and the boats abandoned the raft. The night following 20 persons were lost from the raft or were pressed to death between its divisions. The second night several persons were washed off from the extremities of the raft, and the survivors crowded to the centre overthrowing one another. At length the soldiers got at the wine and intoxicated themselves. In this state they manifested a disposition to destroy their officers, and to break up the raft by cutting the ropes which bound it. One of them, who began to cut with a hatchet, was killed by an officer. The revolvers drew their sabres, and those who had none, armed themselves with knives.

One of them raised his sword against an officer, and was instantly put to death.
The soldiers then withdrew to one end of the raft. One feigning to be reposing had already cut some of the ropes. The officers rushed upon him. A soldier assumed his defiance. They were both thrown into the sea. The combat became general. The mast broke, and in falling wounded captain Dupont so that he remained insensible. He was seized by the soldiers and thrown overboard, but recovered again. But a anticler afterwards endeavored to cut out his eyes with a penknife. After a desperate struggle this mutiny appeared suppressed, but it broke out again in an hour, and very soon the raft was strewn with bodies. There were not more than 12 or 15 chiefs and passengers to resist all their fury.

At last day-light came, to shew a scene of horror. A great number of the seditious had thrown themselves overboard.
60 or 65 men had perished during the night. A fourth part of them had drowned themselves in despair. On our side we had lost but two. The rebels had thrown 2 bbls of wine into the sea, and all our water. There now remained only one cask of wine, and there were yet 67 men. We were obliged to resort to extreme means to maintain existence.
Those whom death spared in this disastrous night threw themselves greedily on the bodies which covered the raft, and cut pieces from them, which some devoured immediately. The 4th morning after leaving the wreck, shew 16 or 17 more persons dead on the raft. These were committed to the deep, only one was reserved for food. Towards evening the survivors caught upwards of 500 flying fish. A fire was made, the fish and some human flesh was cooked. A new mutiny was attempted this night; but the leader a Spaniard, was thrown into the sea and order restored.

On the morning of the 6th day, it was found that only thirty persons remained.
Those who survived were in a most deplorable state. Their feet were swelled, and they were covered with wounds and bruises, which compelled them at times to utter the most frightful cries. There only remained wine for 4 days, and hardly a dozen fish. Two soldiers bored the wine cask behind, and drank till discussed. A law had been made that such conduct should be punished with death, and they were immediately thrown overboard.

Thus we were but 29; of these only

NORFOLK, Oct. 25.

The case of the Sylvia Ann related to... us by the master of that vessel, whose...
arrival here in the schooner Olive Branch... was mentioned in our last. In this... the Sylvia Ann, commanded by Alfred Haz... ard, sailed from Matanzas on the 15th...
August bound to Philadelphia. On the...
16th, at 2 P. M. passed Cape Fear, on... about one league distant, and hailed up... for the Spanish town of Danja Maria... intending to send the boat ashore at that... place for vegetables, being short of bread...

When about two miles distant from... the town, they fired a shot at the Sylvia...
Ann—Capt. Hazard immediately hoisted... his colors at the main peak, but in ten... minutes after another shot was fired... which fell within a few feet of the... schooner. Capt. Hazard finding that... they paid no respect to the American... flag, thought it best to bear away im... mediately, and get out of reach of their...
guns.

At 2 P. M. fell calm, saw a schooner... at anchor in Sancti Spiritus, from which... a boat was discovered approaching the...
Sylvia Ann. At 4 P. M. the boat came... along side with five men, who demanded... the schooner's papers, on delivering... which Capt. Hazard asked them the name... of their schooner, and to what nation she...
belonged.

They replied she was a Patriotic... privateer commissioned by Bolivar...
[improbable] called the 19th Decatur...
(formerly an American vessel) and that... she was commanded by a captain Foug... but captain Hazard afterwards learned... that his real name was Paul. At half... past 5 P. M. they left the Sylvia Ann... and returned to their own vessel, 500 in... half an hour after their boat came back... together with about 20 men, armed with... muskets, pistols, and cutlasses, ordered... capt. Hazard into the boat and carried... him on board the privateer. They also... took all the crew out of the Sylvia Ann... and carried the cabin boy on board their... own vessel, where they put him into i... rons, and holding a pistol to his breast... threatened him with instant death if he... did not tell them in what part of the... vessel captain H. had stowed away... his money. The boy thus intimidated... made the desired disclosure, whereupon... they returned to the Sylvia Ann, and... plundered her of every article of the... least value that they could conveniently... lay their rapacious hands upon, and of... which the following is a list.

2000 Spanish dollars,
180 Doubloons,
225 pounds of silver in bars, 100 weight of white sugar, one sext... ant, one case instruments, log-lines, sp... glass, books, charts, and all the ship and... cabin stores. They also plundered the... men of their clothing, taking even the... rats off their heads; they took Captain...
Hazard's watch from his fob, a gold... chain from his neck, and a gold ring from... his finger. To robbery they added in... sult and cruelty by beating the crew of the Sylvia Ann in a most barbarous man... ner, so that some of them were rendered... unfit for duty. At 7 P. M. capt. H... was permitted to return on board his own... vessel, where he found some of the pri... vateer's men still occupied in pillaging... assisted by two Spanish officers, who... had come off from the Fort. The officers... demanded of capt. H. sixteen dollars... for the two shot they had fired at him... when he informed them that Pinel had...

robbed him of every thing, and requested... they would go and stop him, which they... promised to do but did not. At 5 o'clock... the next morning the privateer got under... way and stood to sea, the Spaniards mak... ing no effort to stop her.

Owing to the calm which prevailed, the...
Sylvia Ann lay at anchor where she was... brought to by the pirate, until the 20th... when a breeze springing up she ran into...
Jeremie, where she remained a short... time and then sailed for Port Au Prince...
From Port Au Prince capt. H. was pro... ceeding home, when he was unfortunate... ly wrecked on Great Henega, in a trem... endous hurricane. By great exertions... they succeeded in saving a part of the... cargo and the materials of the Sylvia...
Ann, when captain Hazard crossed to...
Barra in a small boat, leaving 2 men... in charge of what was saved from the... wreck and applied to the commandant...
Don Louis, for assistance and permis... sion to charter an American vessel to... carry the cargo and materials of the...
Sylvia Ann to the U. S. which was refus... ed; neither could capt. H. obtain per... mission to return to Great Henega with... provisions for the men he had left there... and who was suffering for want. The... commandant threatened capt. H. repeat... edly that he would put him in irons and...
send him to prison in case he made any... attempt to leave Barra without his... special authority, but would assign no... reason whatever for such unfriendly... treatment. It was understood, however... that the commandant was fitting out a...
Spanish vessel for the purpose of seiz... ing upon the property saved—Capt. H. was... finally so fortunate as to engage the A... merican schooner Olive Branch, then at...
Barra, to take the little property he... had saved from Henega, and carry it... to the United States, which he effected... without the knowledge of the plotting... robber, Don Louis.

Thus between pirates and Spanish offi... cers on the one hand, and the fury of... the elements on the other, capt. Hazard... has experienced a train of misfortunes as... singular as they are heavy; and from the...
prospects of a prosperous voyage, he re... turns home nearly bereft of every thing.

SULLY FOR SALE.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty-two miles from Alexandria and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil, which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaster of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation; and those now untitled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed; the outhouses are all conveniently situated; those for farming purposes are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate to an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincum-bered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next the post office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.
